

New York City got together to celebrate anew after two years off due to COVID the 2022 NYC Labor Day Parade. Coined as Worker Leading Worker Rising. Together with the workers and different unions of New York City and the surrounding boroughs, NY Governor KATHY HOCHUL, Mayor ERIC ADAMS and Senator CHUCK SCHUMER marched down 5th Avenue to show their support. Other prominent NYC figures also showed their support such as Cardinal Archbishop, TIMOTHY DOLAN. September 10, 2022. (C) Bianca Otero

I am a union worker

That means I am part of an organization that fights not only for my benefits, but for everyone's benefit.

Unions set the standards

New York City got together to celebrate anew after two years off due to COVID the 2022 NYC Labor Day Parade. Coined as Worker Leading Worker Rising. Together with the workers and different unions of New York City and the surrounding boroughs, NY Governor KATHY HOCHUL, Mayor ERIC ADAMS and Senator CHUCK SCHUMER marched down 5th Avenue to show their support. Other prominent NYC figures also showed their support such as Cardinal Archbishop, TIMOTHY DOLAN. September 10, 2022. (C) Bianca Otero

ORGANIZATION
tel: 212-2797049.com
info@hokp.com

and a union worker
and a union worker
and a union worker

and a union worker
and a union worker
and a union worker

LOCAL 157
L.A. 157
L.A. 157

Historical Council
workers at 197
ST SAFE
T UNION
workers at 197

and a union worker
and a union worker
and a union worker

New York City got together to celebrate anew after two years off due to COVID the 2022 NYC Labor Day Parade. Coined as Worker Leading Worker Rising. Together with the workers and different unions of New York City and the surrounding boroughs, NY Governor KATHY HOCHUL, Mayor ERIC ADAMS and Senator CHUCK SCHUMER marched down 5th Avenue to show their support. Other prominent NYC figures also showed their support such as Cardinal Archbishop, TIMOTHY DOLAN. September 10, 2022. (C) Bianca Otero

New York City got together to celebrate anew after two years off due to COVID the 2022 NYC Labor Day Parade. Coined as Worker Leading Worker Rising. Together with the workers and different unions of New York City and the surrounding boroughs, NY Governor KATHY HOCHUL, Mayor ERIC ADAMS and Senator CHUCK SCHUMER marched down 5th Avenue to show their support. Other prominent NYC figures also showed their support such as Cardinal Archbishop, TIMOTHY DOLAN. September 10, 2022. (C) Bianca Otero

New York City got together to celebrate anew after two years off due to COVID the 2022 NYC Labor Day Parade. Coined as Worker Leading Worker Rising. Together with the workers and different unions of New York City and the surrounding boroughs, NY Governor KATHY HOCHUL, Mayor ERIC ADAMS and Senator CHUCK SCHUMER marched down 5th Avenue to show their support. Other prominent NYC figures also showed their support such as Cardinal Archbishop, TIMOTHY DOLAN. September 10, 2022. (C) Bianca Otero

New York City got together to celebrate anew after two years off due to COVID the 2022 NYC Labor Day Parade. Coined as Worker Leading Worker Rising. Together with the workers and different unions of New York City and the surrounding boroughs, NY Governor KATHY HOCHUL, Mayor ERIC ADAMS and Senator CHUCK SCHUMER marched down 5th Avenue to show their support. Other prominent NYC figures also showed their support such as Cardinal Archbishop, TIMOTHY DOLAN. September 10, 2022. (C) Bianca Otero

New York City got together to celebrate anew after two years off due to COVID the 2022 NYC Labor Day Parade. Coined as Worker Leading Worker Rising. Together with the workers and different unions of New York City and the surrounding boroughs, NY Governor KATHY HOCHUL, Mayor ERIC ADAMS and Senator CHUCK SCHUMER marched down 5th Avenue to show their support. Other prominent NYC figures also showed their support such as Cardinal Archbishop, TIMOTHY DOLAN. September 10, 2022. (C) Bianca Otero

New York City got together to celebrate anew after two years off due to COVID the 2022 NYC Labor Day Parade. Coined as Worker Leading Worker Rising. Together with the workers and different unions of New York City and the surrounding boroughs, NY Governor KATHY HOCHUL, Mayor ERIC ADAMS and Senator CHUCK SCHUMER marched down 5th Avenue to show their support. Other prominent NYC figures also showed their support such as Cardinal Archbishop, TIMOTHY DOLAN. September 10, 2022. (C) Bianca Otero

New York City got together to celebrate anew after two years off due to COVID the 2022 NYC Labor Day Parade. Coined as Worker Leading Worker Rising. Together with the workers and different unions of New York City and the surrounding boroughs, NY Governor KATHY HOCHUL, Mayor ERIC ADAMS and Senator CHUCK SCHUMER marched down 5th Avenue to show their support. Other prominent NYC figures also showed their support such as Cardinal Archbishop, TIMOTHY DOLAN. September 10, 2022. (C) Bianca Otero

New York City got together to celebrate anew after two years off due to COVID the 2022 NYC Labor Day Parade. Coined as Worker Leading Worker Rising. Together with the workers and different unions of New York City and the surrounding boroughs, NY Governor KATHY HOCHUL, Mayor ERIC ADAMS and Senator CHUCK SCHUMER marched down 5th Avenue to show their support. Other prominent NYC figures also showed their support such as Cardinal Archbishop, TIMOTHY DOLAN. September 10, 2022. (C) Bianca Otero

New York City got together to celebrate anew after two years off due to COVID the 2022 NYC Labor Day Parade. Coined as Worker Leading Worker Rising. Together with the workers and different unions of New York City and the surrounding boroughs, NY Governor KATHY HOCHUL, Mayor ERIC ADAMS and Senator CHUCK SCHUMER marched down 5th Avenue to show their support. Other prominent NYC figures also showed their support such as Cardinal Archbishop, TIMOTHY DOLAN. September 10, 2022. (C) Bianca Otero

New York City got together to celebrate anew after two years off due to COVID the 2022 NYC Labor Day Parade. Coined as Worker Leading Worker Rising. Together with the workers and different unions of New York City and the surrounding boroughs, NY Governor KATHY HOCHUL, Mayor ERIC ADAMS and Senator CHUCK SCHUMER marched down 5th Avenue to show their support. Other prominent NYC figures also showed their support such as Cardinal Archbishop, TIMOTHY DOLAN. September 10, 2022. (C) Bianca Otero

New York City got together to celebrate anew after two years off due to COVID the 2022 NYC Labor Day Parade. Coined as Worker Leading Worker Rising. Together with the workers and different unions of New York City and the surrounding boroughs, NY Governor KATHY HOCHUL, Mayor ERIC ADAMS and Senator CHUCK SCHUMER marched down 5th Avenue to show their support. Other prominent NYC figures also showed their support such as Cardinal Archbishop, TIMOTHY DOLAN. September 10, 2022. (C) Bianca Otero

New York City got together to celebrate anew after two years off due to COVID the 2022 NYC Labor Day Parade. Coined as Worker Leading Worker Rising. Together with the workers and different unions of New York City and the surrounding boroughs, NY Governor KATHY HOCHUL, Mayor ERIC ADAMS and Senator CHUCK SCHUMER marched down 5th Avenue to show their support. Other prominent NYC figures also showed their support such as Cardinal Archbishop, TIMOTHY DOLAN. September 10, 2022. (C) Bianca Otero

New York City got together to celebrate anew after two years off due to COVID the 2022 NYC Labor Day Parade. Coined as Worker Leading Worker Rising. Together with the workers and different unions of New York City and the surrounding boroughs, NY Governor KATHY HOCHUL, Mayor ERIC ADAMS and Senator CHUCK SCHUMER marched down 5th Avenue to show their support. Other prominent NYC figures also showed their support such as Cardinal Archbishop, TIMOTHY DOLAN. September 10, 2022. (C) Bianca Otero

New York City got together to celebrate anew after two years off due to COVID the 2022 NYC Labor Day Parade. Coined as Worker Leading Worker Rising. Together with the workers and different unions of New York City and the surrounding boroughs, NY Governor KATHY HOCHUL, Mayor ERIC ADAMS and Senator CHUCK SCHUMER marched down 5th Avenue to show their support. Other prominent NYC figures also showed their support such as Cardinal Archbishop, TIMOTHY DOLAN. September 10, 2022. (C) Bianca Otero

New York City got together to celebrate anew after two years off due to COVID the 2022 NYC Labor Day Parade. Coined as Worker Leading Worker Rising. Together with the workers and different unions of New York City and the surrounding boroughs, NY Governor KATHY HOCHUL, Mayor ERIC ADAMS and Senator CHUCK SCHUMER marched down 5th Avenue to show their support. Other prominent NYC figures also showed their support such as Cardinal Archbishop, TIMOTHY DOLAN. September 10, 2022. (C) Bianca Otero

